Journal's evaluation: Journal Of Pediatric Critical Care (2455-7099, 2349-6592)

ICV 2017: 100.00

IC Value (Index Copernicus Value) consists of two elements::

1. The quality of the journal understood as meeting the evaluation criteria: 100.00

The result is composed of points received for the following criteria:

- Standards
- Stability
- Digitization
- Internationalization

The maximum ICI Journals Master List evaluation result is: ICV=100.

If the journal receives between 100 and 127 points, the final result is ICV=100.

If the journal receives less than 100 points, the final result equals number of points received.

2. Journal's impact is based on the journal's citation and it's dynamics: 0.00

Data provided by the scientific journals in the evaluation questionnaires are partly verified and updated.

ICV result (Index Copernicus Value) for 2017 is based on:

- questionnaire including detailed information on the journal, submitted online by the Editorial Office of the journal
- analysis of the scientific content published in the journal in the evaluated year submitted by the Editorial Office to Index Copernicus
- publicly available data concerning the journal's citation
